days pass by and summer brings her days of greatest warmth, when all the fortunate flee from careworn towns and crowded cities, more and more are thoughts and wishes turned to this marvelous spring reason of Virginia, which, from time immemorial has held forth promises of rest and pleasure for the initiated and unenlightened alike.

Warm Springs appeals to the many, granting to stranger or habitue the bountiful hospitality for which it has been always justly famed. Five generations have known this beautiful old hostery, nearly two centuries have come and gone, yet to-day the delightful old-fashioned aspect of colonial comfort is still retained in both house and service.

Golf has become one of the leading good course, and the most ardent enthusiasts who find two rounds each day little enough are Dr. and Mrs. John A. LECTURE ON AFRICA. Sunday ovening the guests, not only of the hotel, but of all the nearby country, were granted the privilege of hearing an unusually interesting lecture on Africa, by the Rev. William Sheppard, one of the best known, most earnest and most successful missionaries to the Dark Continent. The ball-room, which was tendered by Mrs. Eubank for the occasion, was filled to the utmost with enthusiastic listeners, as Dr. Sheppard, having lived his boyhood days here, boasts unlimited friends among both races, and none of the many who heard and enjoyed his lecture could help but feel and be affected by the force and power and good of the man before them. Ferhaps the interest was made keener by the realization that the next day the speaker was to leave again for Africa, where, for ten years, he must be away from country, home and friends.

Musle lovers knew an evening of great pleasure Wadnesday, when thanks to the energy and talent of Miss Morehillips, of Mobile, Ala., a recital was given in the large drawing room of the hotel. Mr. Stephens, of Cincinnat, headed the programme with a well-rendered tenor solo, while Mrs. Goss, of Boston, and Miss Cooke, of Louisyille, charmed all with their high soprano and deep contraito voices. Miss Strobuher gave exquisite touch and technique in the rendition of plano solos. Miss Henrietta McPhillips, of Mobile. gave some very quite bringing down the house. The final number was rendered by Mrs. George Gibson, of Bailtimore, who was in excellent voice for Jocelyn's "Luilaby" and some German songs. Needless to say there was great applause throughout the evening, and many well merited encores. The recital closed with a rousing chorus, and was generally voted one of the successes of the season.

LATE ARRIVALS.

POPULAR GUESTS.

It is generally conceded by the guests here that Thomas Stanley Meade is not only a handsome baby, but a very lovable one. This little fellow is "Tophole," and draws to himself many admirers without slightest conscious effort.

This week's guests from North Carolina include Mrs. B. F. Cozart and Miss Nannie Walker, Winston-Salem; Miss Evelyn Walker, Rocky Mount; Mr. George W. Coan and George W. Coan, Jr., Winston. Mrs. Cozart is so pleasantly remembered as a last season's guest, and a very popular one, being endowed with a grace of manner and rare Christian qualities.

A Clerical Joke.

Years ago, while Rev. Shandaloupe was a student at the seminary, he undertook, one vacation season, to sell five extinguishers.

His pleasing address and affibality enabled him to make many sales. However, he encountered the usual rebuffs which are the experience of all agents. The theological student had gained access to the office of a surly broker, and forthwith began expatitating on the deulging power of his incomparable fire extinguisher.

"To h— with it!" roardl the broker flendishly.

"Oh, my dear man," expostulated Shandaloupe, "this extinguisher does not deserve the extreme virtue with which you credit it."—Harper's Weskly.
